Swati Sahasrabudhe, Professor, is associated with Department of Landscape Architecture, BNCA since 2006. She also has been given the responsibility of being the Head of the Department. She has been one of the key members and expert in framing the syllabus of the course right from its inception stage. She is passionately working towards empowering women through Landscape Architecture education, research and practice throughout her career so far and intends to work towards widening the horizons for women in the field.

She completed her Masters in Landscape Architecture from School of Planning and Architecture, New Delhi. After working with Senior Landscape Architect Ravindra Bhan in New Delhi, she got opportunity to work with Association for Metropolitan Development Authorities (AMDAs) for Delhi Master Plan 2021. She has been in the field of Landscape Architecture for the past 20 years, doing consulting work for various national and state level organizations. GATE scholarship top ranker, a merit holder at Bachelor Level and a Gold Medalist at Masters Level , she is presently teaching and practicing Landscape Architecture. During her academic career she is involved in research and has published papers which address the aspects of landscape architecture, pedagogy, landscape regionalism and design thinking in landscape architecture.

She actively participates in the work of Indian Society of Landscape Architects – ISOLA as a fellow member. She is presently is appointed as a Convenor, Education Board, ISOLA. She has been instrumental in building up ISOLA as a facilitator for quality education in Landscape Architecture in Indian context.

She has initiated a platform of 'LA-FORUM' (Landscape Architects Forum) which intends to encourage landscape professionals & students to come on a common platform, share their experiences, knowledge and views. She structures and conducts studios and academic sessions for Landscape Design studio, dissertation, research paper and landscape management at post graduate level. She conceptualizes and conducts workshops on Design Thinking.

The founder and mentor of “Center for Ecological Landscapes” at BNCA, Swati has been instrumental in bridging the gap between academics and practice by creating opportunities to learn from and to work with a multidisciplinary panel of experts in cultural and ecological restoration practices. Also the founder and mentor of “Landscape Lab”, she enjoys actively engaging herself with capacity building initiatives at BNCA.

Her research work and interests focus on design thinking and design knowledge in Landscape Architecture, and exploring an interface of landscape design with nature-urban ecology and cultural landscape studies.
